- Q1 The availability of beds for acquired brain injuries (ABI) and other neurological conditions such as neuropsychiatry disorders in different settings across England. As such, I would like to request a breakdown of the different types of beds available for ABI patients (split by level from level 1 – level 4) as well as neuropsychiatry patients across the hospitals in your trust. Could you please provide and specify the number of beds for each sub-category that are listed below, split by Gender split (M/F/Mix)
- A1 Information not held – The Trust is a major trauma centre and do not have specified ABI beds, however we aspire to have at least 4 mixed sex beds available for ABI patients at one time covering levels 1-4 but this is not a set number and may vary depending on other major trauma patients admitted to the Trust.
